Woman Sure Brother Lost In Cuba Was CIA Agent

CPYRGHT

BIRMINGHAM, MASS. (UPI)—A Dead-beaten housewife said Wednesday she was convinced her brother was working for the Central Intelligence Agency when he was shot down during the abortive Cuban invasion.

Mrs. Anthony F. Ingemi said, "I just put a lot of little things together and I'm sure that's who he was working for," she said.

She identified her brother as Capt. Francis Baker, 25, a similar to pilot flying for the Castro forces. "I think he was shot down April 17," she said. "I think, oh, he was flying a MiG and I think he was flying MiG
and I think he was flying MiG."

SAID BROTHER KILLED

Mrs. Ingemi said after she heard the news she called home and her brother's widow from Massachusetts to say plane and was at her mother's home here informed her of her brother's death. "He just stayed five minutes," she said. "He said the plane crashed. He didn't say if it was shot down or what. And he said the plane was carrying an undisclosed cargo," Mrs. Ingemi said. "He said her brother was home in January, having recently been discharged from the Air Force in which he was a flight engineer in the Strategic Air Command.

"He said he had this flying job for good pay but he was very quiet about it. The man who hired him was Attorney Alex Carlson of Missoula, Mont., son of the company vice president of the company that was just a company that the sister said.

"Of course there just no information. I don't have any information or I wouldn't be talking," she added.

SENT CLIPPINGS

She said her sister, Mrs. Barbara Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Baker's widow of the dead flyer, sent her a clipping of the May 5 edition of the Birmingham Post Herald showing the names of Baker and the others as victims of an April 19 crash. The story did not say the plane was shot down or that it was hired by the CIA.

She said the paper identified the three others as Riley W.
Shambarger, pilot; Willard Ray, navigator, and Wayne H. Gray, radio operator.
